Manian, Vice-Chancellor, Annamalai University inaugurated the Gender Sensitization Programme. In his inaugural address, he delivered a thought provoking lecture with radical ideas and insights on the gender inequality that exists in society. He insisted that women should have self-respect which will help them to live with their heads held high. He also added that empowerment of woman can only lead to the development of our country.

Mrs. J. Radhika, Sub Judge/ Assistant Sessions Judge, Chidambaram, in her keynote address, cited various acts for the safety of women like Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace, Dowry Prohibition Act, Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, Indecent Representation of Women (Prohibition) Act and elaborated on the significance of the act in the light of gender inequality and harassment prevalent in the society. She stressed upon the importance of gender equality in educational institutions. She highlighted the different roles played by women and their right to property and life. She added that women should be empowered in all spheres of life.

Dr. C. Antony Jeyasehar, Dean, Faculty of Engineering and Technology, Annamalai University, offered his felicitations and pointed out that gender sensitization has got something to empathize than sympathize. He advised the students to be cautious and be aware of the activities happening around them. His speech was an eye opener for the freshers to be armed to face the challenges and safeguard themselves from the evils of the society. He also stressed that students should introspect and take stock of the society and act accordingly.
